

Canceled Career Day

By Daniel J., Evalynn K., Hayato M., Madison M.,
Chloe Y.

Career Day at JMS is an event day dedicated to introducing different jobs you can take for your future. How do they conduct this event? Adults volunteer to talk for about 25 minutes at a time about their jobs. Some of these professionals could be Police officers, Lifeguards, Architects, Engineers, Rocket Scientists, Pilots, Doctors, Nurses, Lawyers, Designers, or pretty much anything. These people talk about why they chose their careers, how they got it, and most importantly, what they do. These people could inspire you guys to follow their paths and give you ideas of what you want to do when you are older. But this year, something is wrong. A few days ago, Mrs. Balooch announced that Career Day was canceled for various reasons. As your trustworthy source of information, we will break down the backstory about what happened to suddenly stop this event from happening.

This year, Career Day was rarely talked about in the school. Even when it was the day that it was hosted last year, the Daily Bulletin never gave information on it or even mentioned it.

The event was scheduled to be somewhere around March 10th, but it was always unclear about which day the event would be hosted. And this year the timing couldn't have been more off. Since this year we couldn't get enough participants to talk about their careers. Due to this sudden issue, the speaker-to-student ratio (1:40) was very off, which led to more students in a classroom than it could handle.

This means that if the Career Day was executed, 40 students would have needed to be stuffed into a classroom. Based on the amount of students that can sit down in Mr. Pacheco's classroom (36 students), 4 students would have to stand up. If you were one of the unlucky students, you would've stood there for 25 minutes straight per talk. Although there are larger classrooms like Mrs. Harkins', there are far more smaller classrooms such as Mr. White's.

(Lifeguards from last year's Career Day)

Last year in the lifeguards presentation they talked about how they save others in the ocean who may be struggling to stay afloat. They go through a variety of procedures on how they prepare themselves for when it happens in real life. And they also talk about what equipment they use to make sure the person in trouble and themselves stay safe. At the end, they ask a series of questions, in which you may win a prize.

Last year the police department talked about how they train and deal with different types of situations. Many students have the question in mind when they use their guns, they answered by saying that they don't want to use their guns. However, they will if it's a last resort, or if the criminals are armed. To protect the victim or themselves.

There were also other parts of the community that came such as the YMCA. Since summer was just around the corner, they talked about all the new summer events they will be hosting. They even went to talk about how they would give students below the age of 18 a free membership to access the whole facility. Which ranges from a basketball court, an organized gym, and even a place to go rock climbing for the whole summer!

It takes a while to schedule everything and get enough volunteers to come and give a whole presentation to different groups of students. However, this year that wasn't possible, and Career Day had to get canceled only a few days when the event was scheduled.

Del Amo Mall New Rule

By: Aidan O., Anthony M., Mari G.

If you live here in Torrance, I'm sure you have heard about Del Amo Fashion Center. If you haven't, it is one of the largest malls in America. It has all kinds of stores like food places, toy stores, clothing stores, restaurants, and so many others.

Recently, Del Amo Fashion Center has been experiencing a lot of crime inside. It isn't just every other week, Sgt. Kim of the TPD said that they have encounters there 7 days a week. Because of this, they have decided to implement a new rule that will hopefully help keep Del Amo Mall a safe place again.

(New Checkpoint at Del Amo Mall Entrance)

This new rule started on March 1st, 2024, and was implemented by Simon, the company that owns Del Amo Fashion Center. This rule says that teens under the age of eighteen must be accompanied by an adult that is at least twenty one or older after 3 p.m. According to the Daily Breeze, "The new policy came in response to large, chaotic brawls at the shopping center in recent months, including one that involved about 1,000 minors. These incidents led to the mall closing early and nearby streets temporarily shuttering." This just shows the chaos that happens at the mall on a daily basis. This rule only applies on Friday and Saturday.

There have been many stores that were robbed or affected by the actions of teenagers, but five employees of five different stores were interviewed. All of these places that were interviewed are close or in the same area of the mall.

The first person that was interviewed was a woman named Carissa who works at GTAT Village.

When she was asked about her opinion on the new rule, she said, "I honestly think it's a good thing, we've had a lot of problems with groups of teenagers, we've even had to shut the store down early. Mall security told us that groups of teenagers were stealing. I think it's a good thing for everybody's safety as well, kind of a waste of police efforts doing something else instead of policing with teenagers." She also said that big stores like Forever 21 can just replace their inventory, but family owned stores like the one she works at have a big effect when they are robbed (Her aunt owns the store). Lastly, when asked if the store she works at had ever been robbed by teens before, she said, "Yes, one time teenagers in spiderman costumes, they grabbed handfuls of stuff and ran out." She also said the situation has gotten better since the rule has gone into effect.

A woman at Bath & Body Works named Irma was also interviewed. She said that she is happy about the new rule and she thinks that everyone is. She also said that the store was robbed once by teens.

(New security camera device)

Another person named Riley who works at LOHO was spoken to about the rule. He said, "I think it's good, especially for teenagers to stop fighting at the mall. There have been a lot of times where we had to close early. I'm 18 so I've been asked for my id." He also said that they have been robbed many times by teenagers before.

Two other people were spoken to about the new rule, Nikolai from AMC and Richard from sports treasures. They both think that this new rule is a good thing. Also, Nikolai said that they once had to close down AMC early because of an incident.

Angels' Spring Training

By Ashley W.

Angels are now getting ready for the long season ahead of them. They started their spring training on February 24 at home, when they played against the other Los Angeles major league baseball team, the Dodgers. For the majority of the game, the Angels were in the lead until the 8th inning. The Dodgers were able to get 5 runs in while the Angels got 3. Both teams tied 7-7.

Jason Martin hits a home run in the 8th inning tying the score.

The next day they went to the Goodyear Ballpark to play the Reds. No home runs were struck by the Angels while the Reds struck 2. The Angels ended up losing 9-4. The third training was at home against the Royals. They ended up losing once again, 1-10. Their losing streak didn't last long, however.

On February 26 and 27, the Angels won against the Giants and Brewers. They then went to the Salt River Fields at Talking Stick where they played the Rockies. They only scored once during the second inning when third baseman Taylor Ward singled to the left and Matt Thaiss scored. The Rockies were the ones who ended up winning, 1-3. Over the next 6 days, the Angels won against the Guardians, Padres, Diamondbacks, White Sox, Rangers, and the Dodgers.

On March 6, the Angels had 2 games. One against the Cubs at Sloan and the other was Athletics at home. Unfortunately, they lost both games. The next day they went to Peoria, Arizona to go against the Mariners. They were unable to score during the game and lost 0-5. After that, they went against the Rockies once again.

In the 8th inning, the Rockies finally caught up to the Angels and the score was tied 7-7. The Angels made one final run in the 9th inning and won by 1 point. They then won 5-4 against the Guardians and 4-5 against the Padres. On March 11, they played at home where they got demolished by the Rangers. The Rangers had nearly double the amount of total bases and hits as the Angels. The Angels lost by 10 points, 15-5.

LA Lakers: Lebron's Achievement

By: David O.

Lebron James is the first in NBA history to score a total of 40,000 career points. Fans and NBA players congratulate him, but there are critics, one of them being Skip Bayless. When Lebron reached his milestone, Bayless mentioned how crazy it is that he reached 40,000 points. He then stated how Michael Jordan is better than Lebron, and that Lebron only got his milestone since he has been in the NBA for so long.

Gamewise, the Lakers are doing well. In the game against the Minnesota Timberwolves, the Lakers dominated, especially Anthony Davis. In the first 3 quarters, the game seemed to be even, as it was tied, until the 4th quarter. After Davis realized that the Timberwolves were missing some key players, he started going all out and ended the game with 27 points, 25 rebounds, 5 assists, 7 steals, and 3 blocks. The Lakers also won against the Milwaukee Bucks, despite Lebron sitting out because of an ankle injury. It was a close game but D'Angelo Russel dominated, with 6 rebounds, 9 assists, and 44 points.

D'Angelo Russell scoring as a player from the Bucks are trying to defend

However, they did lose against the Sacramento Kings and the Golden State Warriors. In the game against the Kings, many blame the coach, Darvin Ham, for the reason why the Lakers lost. Claiming that Darvin had no idea what he was doing. In the game against the Warriors, Anthony Davis got an eye injury so the Warriors took advantage. Even though Lebron scored a total of 40 points, Anthony Davis was a key player they were missing in the last 3 quarters.

Garbage Megamind Sequel

By: Mason W. Ali A.

It is with the deepest of regret that I have to say this about one of my childhood favorite movie characters, of all time, but... THE MEGAMIND SEQUEL SUCKS! I did not wait 14 years for this pathetic excuse for a sequel.

Megamind Vs The Doom Syndicate ugly poster

It's easily able to be seen but this is just a cheap money grab in order to use the fact that people want to see more of the amazing movie that was megamind to have people buy the movie and. It's also easily able to see that they also cheated out of the animation as well.

The first movie was perfect, it was amazing, it was a lot of kids' childhood. The first movie explored and expressed extremely well what no other kids movies did. Which was the villian becoming the hero, with the exception of despicable me, that movie was also very awesome sauce.

This "sequel" puts shame to the name of Megamind. A lot of people begged and wanted a sequel to megamind so bad since the first movie was peak fiction. When it was announced that after 14 whole years there would be a sequel everyone was so excited but when the trailer came out... everyone was so disappointed and so mad.

They couldn't even get the same voice actors as Megamind and Roxan. The "sequel" just ditched everything about the first movie and forgot how far Megamind had come. All it did was give some cheaply put together plot that was made to just kick off the also trash series about megamind.

Trust me when I say this, save your eyes and don't bother to watch it. It is truly HORRIBLE!

College Debt

By: Mason W. Daksh P. Ali A.

When you finish college you may think that you are finally finished with school and done with all your school years. For a large chunk of your life you think you're finally done with it, but are you? About 61.8% of high school students go to college after they graduate. This is important because the amount of students that get a scholarship is about 7.5%, and only about 1.5% get a full ride. So unless you get really lucky, you're most likely gonna get stuck with tons of college debt that you're gonna be paying for years. The cost of education shouldn't be so much that some people don't even go to college because of it.

As NORAC at the University of Chicago states, about 75% of people who don't go to college don't go because of the cost. They don't go because they know that they probably won't be able to pay off their debts. If they just ignore it and don't pay it, their credit score along with a few other things go down which damages their ability to take out a loan or ask for financial help from the bank in the future.

Picture of College Textbooks

One of the main things students complain about that cost the most are their college textbooks. The average cost of one single text book can range from 100 dollars to 150. Some even cost 400 dollars. Students need about six textbooks per year as well. That's about 400 or 600 dollars a year for textbooks alone. Not to mention other supplies which in total, including the text books, add up to about 1,000 dollars, or dorming.

Dorming can cost about 8,000 dollars, or at least in America. It can go up to 15,000 dollars too. Also the average cost of tuition is about 10,400 dollars.

Basically how college debt works is when you're done with college you pay back all the things there over time. This takes a lot of time, 30 years or even longer. For the next three decades you're held back by debt.

Around 43 million Americans have student loan debt. And having student loan debt can keep people from progressing in life. For example, it can keep them from getting a house, and many more things. People can't try to buy things in life and try to, maybe invest in companies, and make more money if their college debt is holding them back.

A Picture Symbolizing how College Debt Holds People back from Succeeding in Life

College debt can't just prevent people from buying things like houses, which are very important, it can also interfere and make people's debt-to-income ratios too high. A debt to income ratio is the amount of a person's income compared and that goes into their debt. Usually college debt is what can throw off this ratio and make the debt part too high.

A NAACP article has touched on the subject of how student debt can affect people later on in life. In the article it has quotes from people about their experiences with college debt. They have said things like, "I'm living paycheck to paycheck."

"The debt never goes away. Once I had it down to $4000, then had a baby, and it went up to $14,000 with interest because they kept deferring to me rather than giving me income-driven repayments."

"I'm not able to save for an emergency fund." Etc. A lot of people have serious problems due to college debt.

"The man I love won't marry me because of the dent we both have. I needed to borrow from family and my retirement fund in order to pay down debt. The impact on my credit has been devastating and I am often saddled with high interest loans for cars, homes, and high interest credit cards."

The government and the colleges say that they need all this money to provide for their students. Which does sort of make sense, they do still need to pay their staff and workers however for things such as text books it shouldn't be so much as we mentioned before.

Ariana Grande's Lengthy Dating History

By Sophia A.

Popular and trendy musician, Ariana Grande has quite a long list of men she's dated. As of right now Ariana has publicly dated 11 men. Some of these relationships were long, some short, others sweet, another sour, let's look into some of them.

The earliest one we'll look into in this article dates back to 2012, when Ariana and Jai Brooks attempted a long distance relationship. Unfortunately their relationship ended in 2014, after Brooks accused Grande of cheating with Nathan Sykes. In a post on social media he wrote "Nathan may be a top bloke or a sweet person, but what he did was just completely wrong. He interfered with my life and did not respect my relationship; his actions caused me to not be able to sleep at night and not see the world as a beautiful place..." Ariana dismissed the claims saying they were "hurtful and shocking". However it was revealed that Nathan and Ariana did date for four months in 2013.

Moving forward, Mac Miller and Ariana hit it off in 2016 to 2018. This is by far one of Ariana's most memorable relationships for the public. They dated for two years, although Ariana admitted he wasn't perfect she does say "He didn't deserve the demons he had." After Mac Miller's death, Ariana went on to write the song "thank you next" as a tribute to him. In the lyrics she wrote "Wish I could say, 'Thank You' to Malcom / 'Cause he was an angel."

Ariana Grande with Mac Miller

Still in 2018 Grande began dating American actor and comedian Pete Davidson. Their relationship was short lived and they got engaged after only weeks of dating. Ariana made a reference to their breakup in her mean girls themed "thank you next". Popsugar says "His page read: "I love u always" and "Sry I dipped."

Fast forward a few years, in 2021 Dalton Gomez and Ariana got engaged after dating for some time in May of 2021. Us Magazine says "It was tiny and intimate — less than 20 people," her rep told Us. "The room was so happy and full of love. The couple and both families couldn't be happier." Their happiness didn't last long as they got divorced in July 2023 "A source exclusively told Us at the time that the estranged couple had "been having some issues for months now" and initially split in January 2023. In September 2023, Grande officially filed for divorce."

Ariana G. and Dalton G. before divorce

Now, what do Ariana's exes say about her? Starting with Pete Davidson an article by nicki swift says "Pete Davidson made his mark on Ariana Grande, so much so the star even dedicated her 2018 song "Pete Davidson" to the "Saturday Night Live" star. He also got a personalized line to call his own after Ariana Grande dropped "Thank U, Next" with the lyrics, "And for Pete, I'm so thankful." As far as breakup ballads go, Davidson definitely lucked out with the mention."

As we all know Ariana's song "Thank you next" included many exes for all but one. Nathan Sykes, the uninvited one says he was happy to be left out of it. In an interview when the topic was brought up he said, "That's good!" with a laugh, adding, "I hear it's amazing and that's fantastic."

While most of her exes seem to have moved on fairly easily, Dalton Gomez had a hard time getting past their relationship. Entertainment Tonight says "Dalton is having a hard time after his breakup with Ariana. It has been a difficult time for him because he wanted to make things work." He even went as far as trying to visit her in Europe, but was denied as Ariana had already moved on from him.

Although these aren't all of the men Ariana Grande has dated, the history behind only four is evident. From dating to engagement to divorces. Her dating history is quite long and the history/impacts both partners have left on each other is undeniable.

Doctors in South Korea are Going on Strike

By Zara K.

There are plenty of problems happening in South Korea. Not only are the country having low birth rates, but their doctors are also going on strike as well! Having no doctors can be pretty dangerous, since that means more people will be likely to get sick or hurt with no help from hospitals.

The reason for the strike is because of overworking. Their shifts cap out at 36 hours, and their workweek can stretch to 88 hours.

The doctor-to-patient ratio of 2.6 per 1,000 people is one of the lowest among developed countries, according to data from the Organisation of Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) countries. In contrast, top ranked Austria has 5.5 doctors per 1,000 people.

Doctors in South Korea refused to work because of underpayment and overworking jobs.

Park Dan, 33, had said he wanted to be an emergency room doctor to save lives. As a resident at Severance Hospital in Seoul, one of South Korea's biggest hospitals, he had said that he worked 100-hour weeks, often saw 20 patients every 60 minutes (which is one patient per 3 minutes), and had to hold off going to the bathroom for hours on end.

Since Feb 20, when the strike started, nearly 10,000 interns and residents, which is about a tenth of all doctors in the nation, have walked off the job. This is causing the government to suspend thousands of doctors licenses for going on strike and not coming back to work on time.

It's not only doctors that are leaving. Trainee doctors have also begun to leave. Since the sudden walkout, about seventy percent of trainee doctors, or about 9,000, have left their posts, the health ministry says. It takes about ten years for a doctor to be fully trained. Trainee doctors are very important in the medical system in South Korea. In major hospitals, they usually make up a third of staff and are the first people to attend to patients.

Thanks to this problem, patients have been directed to smaller hospitals and clinics. Major hospitals have had up to half of their operations delayed, and nurses have been allowed to take some of the duties of doctors. The government has opened military hospitals and increased operating times for public clinics, and while there have been disruptions, the health system has not begun to get better.

One of the trainee doctors involved in the dispute had reportedly said he worked over one hundred hours a week at a top university hospital for two million won (about $3,000) a month, even including overtime pay.

The doctors are determined to get a better medical system.

The government plans to increase admissions to medical schools from 2,000 to 3000 in 2025 to fill what they guess to be a large shortage of doctors by 2035. This is at least sixty-five percent more than usual, and they plan to continue making the numbers bigger to avoid having no doctors. This is not the first time doctors have asked for a government plan to increase medical school admissions.

8th Grade Fundraiser

By Mari G., Aidan O.

What is your favorite special activity that the school provides? Is it something history related like Greek Day or Renaissance Day? Or is it a special field trip like Camp Pali or Astro Camp? All of these special activities cost money, and in order to get that money, the school needs to fundraise.

(Raising Cane's Restaurant)

Recently, there have been some fundraisers at different restaurants for the eighth grade classes. All of them have happened already.

Two that happened were one at Chipotle on Tuesday, March 5th, and the other at Raising Cane's on Tuesday, March 12th.

The other two fundraisers were at Panda Express on Tuesday, March 19th and at The Habit on Tuesday, March 26th. The address for The Habit is 3829 Torrance Blvd and was from 4pm to 9pm. But for the Panda Express fundraiser, you could go to any restaurant about the fundraiser.

The money from the fundraiser will go towards end of the year activities for the 8th graders. Things like games or other outdoor activities for the 8th graders to participate in. Some of the outdoor activities could include picnics or maybe a bouncy house like we saw last year for the seventh graders on renaissance day.

Spring Equinox

By Ashley W.

On Tuesday, March 19, the spring season will begin. This is also when the spring equinox (also called the March or vernal equinox) happens. This special day is when Earth's axis is perpendicular to the Sun's rays which means that the Sun would be directly overhead if you were to stand on the equator. The word "equinox" derives from words in Latin which mean "equal night." "Aequus" means equal and "nox" means night. It is also when the Northern and Southern Hemisphere have roughly around the same amounts of day and nighttime.

After the spring equinox, most places will have longer days. The length of the day increases the greatest on the day after the spring equinox. This continues until the summer solstice. However, this day is the start of autumn in the Southern Hemisphere. The seasons don't actually last the same amount of days. On average, the Northern Hemisphere experiences about 92.8 days of spring while the Southern Hemisphere experiences 89.9.

The diagram shows the equinoxes and solstices.

There is a myth that you can stand a raw egg on its end when the equinox happens. This started when stories about people in ancient China creating standing egg displays on the first day of spring were told. However, they celebrated it about 6 weeks earlier than the actual equinox. While some of it is true, you should be able to balance an egg on its end on other days too.

In Chichen Itza, Mexico, a special pyramid. Around 1000 C.E. the Mayans built one of many pyramids. On the spring equinox, the Sun creates a shadow that looks like a snake moving down the steps. For some people, this day isn't the start of spring. In meteorology, the spring season starts on March 1. In some countries, they determine when spring starts and ends based on the average temperature. This is why they don't have fixed season dates.
